13.3 The American civil war (1861 – 1865)

During the American civil war, the member states to the union (USA) increased to 33. The civil war, therefore, was between eleven southern states and twenty-two northern states.

The causes to the civil war could be categorized into basic and immediate causes.

i) The basic causes

A) The economic difference between the north and the south

The south

- The economy of the south was mainly plantation producing cash crops (cotton etc)
- Slave labor war the back bone of the economy
- Plantation owners invested their capitals on land &slaves.

The north and the west

- Capitalism developed in this part of the USA
- Manufacturing, mechanized agriculture were expanded
- Rail road's and modern means of transportation facilitated to the expansion of capitalism

B) Political difference

The south

- The politicians in the south were against the union and wanted the preservation of slavery which is against the principle of the declaration of independence of 1776

The north

- The politicians of the north wanted the abolition of slavery in the USA and struggle to the preservation of the union.

ii) Immediate cause :-in 1860Abrhan Lincoln was elected the president of the USA who was the opponent of slavery &a leader of the abolitionist group

- The south states feared that Linclon`S governments follow anti-slavery politics

- Following Linclon`S election in February 1861, the slave owing states formed a new state called the CSA (the considerate states of America)
  - Jefferson Devis elected the president of the CSA

- In 1861, a civil war broke out between the north and the south (the union and the CSA). The war had two stages
  - Initially, the war was infavour of the south (CSA) because it had a well experienced officer and well trained soldiers.
  - In 1863, Abrham Lincoln
    - Appointed two efficient generals Ulysses grant and William T.Sherman
    - Issued two proclamations.
      i) Emancipation proclamation declared the slaves in the south to be free as of January1,1863
      ii) Homestead law declared that all citizens including feed slaves to own plots of land
  - The measures taken by Abrham Lincoln changed the nature of the war. After 1863 the war becomes infavour of the north. Because.
    - More and more freed slaves joined the unionist army
    - Shortages of man power, artillery, munitions, food and medical supply became serious problem to the south (the confederation)
  - In April 1865, the last troops of the south was surrendered which brought an end to the civil war
- Major effects of the civil war
  - Total causalities of the civil war was estimated about 286,000. More causality in the north
  - In 1865, A. Lincoln was shot dead by an agent of the slave owners

- Slavery was abolished
- The union (the USA) was preserved
- Capitalism expanded very rapidly in the USA

13.4 Nationalism and the eastern question

Eastern question is a collective term for the problem raised in the south eastern corner of Europe by the weakness of Ottoman Turkish Empire (in the Balkan region) and the rivalry of its successors.

- Balkans is a group of countries that cover a peninsula in the south – east corner of Europe. The region has been called the powder keg of Europe because many wars began there.
  - The Balkan Peninsula includes Albania, Bosnia Herzegovina, Bulgaria, Macedonia, and the mainland of Greece, the European part of Turkey, part of Croatia, Slovenia and Yugoslavia.
  - The Roman empire held the region for 500 years from 148 B.c
  - The slaves came to the area in 500`s a.d
  - By the late 1300`s the ottoman Turkish empire held most of the peninsula

- The problem (the eastern question) fell into three main groups (events of the 1870`s)

1) Attempts by neighboring great powers to benefit at the expense of turkey.
   - Russia: -had been ambitious to expand to the lower danub and the banks of Bosporus. She obtained at controlling the Slav peoples.
   - Austria :- interested in the acquisition of western banks and occupied Bosnia-Herzegovina

ii) Attempts to prevent the disintegration of the ottoman empire
   - Britain wanted the preservation of the weaker ottoman power in order to safeguard her empire in India and her interest in the Mediterranean Sea.

- Austria :-after the 18th century. Austria interested in the preservation of the ottoman empire in order to stop Russian expansion.
- France: -sought the existence of a weaker ottoman empire in the region.

ii) The rise of national independent states

- The first nationalities to revolt against the Turks were the serbs (in 1804 and in 1815)
- The first to achieve independence were Greece. Her independence was recognized in 1833 by great powers
- Rumania, Bulgaria , Serbia and other Balkan states won their independence successively

- The eastern question, however, remained unsolved. Because
  - i) The new Balkan states were not satisfied as their nationals remained outside the new states- the Serbs divided into four major area.
  - ii) The province of Macedonia still remained under ottoman rule
  - iii) The Serbs opposed the Berlin treaty which allowed Austria's occupation of Bosnia Herzegovina
- This development led to the rise of the Balkan states against the ottoman turkey.
  - In 1912, the Balkan states-Montenegro, Bulgaria, Serbia and Greece declared war on ottoman turkey and the first Balkan war stated
    - The Turkish resistance collapsed
    - The treaty of London (30 may 1913) forced turkey to surrender large territory to the Balkan.
  - The second Balkan war started on the Quarrel over the division of the territory

- On 29 June 1913 Bulgaria opened an attack on Greece and turkey
- The combined forces of Greece, serbia and Romania forced Bulgaria to sue for peace
- On 10 August 1913, the treaty of Bucharest signed that ended the second Balkan war

13.5. Colonization of Africa since the 19th century

Before 1880`s and 1890`s colonialism was not implemented in Africa because:-

- The Europeans interested in trade relation with Africa
- Unexplored part of Africa become an obstacle
- The major European power were preoccupied with their own domestic problems :-
  - ❖ Germany and Italy did not complete their unification
  - ❖ France had revolutionary out breaks
  - ❖ Only Britain had no disturbance. Therefore, she engaged giving more attention to the far east
- However, some coastal parts of Africa were occupied by Britain and France
  - In 1830, France occupied Algeria &Senegal
  - Britain occupied cape colony and Gold coast
  - Portugal deeply involved in Mozambique and Angola

The desire for colonization among the European power grew in the mid 1880`s. The main factors were:

i) The British takeover of Egypt or the British conquest of Egyptian 1882
   - In 1879, Britain and France who had an interest in the Suez Canal created Dual rule on Egypt. The Egyptian nationalists, however, opposed this foreign influence and revolted under Ahmed Urabi (Urabipasha) in 1882.

- ❖ Britain alone intervened and crush the revolt and occupied Egyptian 1882which is called the British take over Egypt
- ❖ Then France moved and make colonial conquest in other parts of Africa which accelerated the scramble for Africa

ii) The involvement of two European powers, Germany and Belgium in the colonization of Africa.

- ✦ Germany after completing her unification wanted an overseas colony in Africa.
- ✦ Belgium through king LeopoldII entered into competition to get a colony in Africa
  - ❖ He sent H.M stanely to the Congo basin to conclude treaties with the traditional chiefs.

- The Berlin conference -1884/1855
  - Initiated by otto von Bismarck
  - About fourteen European powers including the USA participated in the conference
  - Two resolution were adopted

i) All powers had to notify others about their claim over a portion of territory and to establish "effective occupation" in these areas. To partition Africa without going to an armed clash.

ii) The light to trade on the Congo River thus the Belgian king won recognition by promising an unrestricted freedom of trade in the Congo basin for all.

- In general after the Berlin conference the major European powers rushed to acquire a colony in Africa

- By 1913 except Ethiopia and Liberia, the whole continent of Africa was under European colonial rule.

- Early African resistance : - in many parts of Africa the European colonizes faced strong resistance the following are examples of such a resistance
  - The maji-maji rebellion (1905-1907) in tanganika (the present day tanzania) against the hash rule of German colonial rule.

  - ➢ Between 1872 – 1875 the Egyptians advanced and controlled northern coastal regions like Bogos

14.4 The Ethiopian Empire state in the post Adwa period upto 1935

The first decade of the Victory of Adwa was a period of consolidation of Emperor Menlik

- ❖ The process of Empire formation was completed
- ❖ The boundaries of Modern Ethiopia was delimited
- ❖ Extensive diplomatic relations were established
- ❖ The power of the Emperor grew stronger
- ❖ No regional challenge
- ❖ Therefore, the Empire of Ethiopia entered the 20th century
  - ➢ very well centralized
  - ➢ victorious over colonial power
  - ➢ Politically stable.

➢ However, the year 1906 is generally regarded as an important turning point in the reign of Menelik.

- ❖ He suffered his first stroke from a disease which finally claimed his life in 1913
- ❖ His right hand man and the expected heir to the throne, Ras Mekonnen died in 1906

- ❖ In 1906, the three neighboringcolonial powers (Britain, France and Italy) concluded what of known as the Tripartite agreement
  - ➧ The main objectives of the Tripartite treaty were
    - ➧ To avoid a possible conflict of interest among the signatory powers of Ethiopia disintegrated in the Struggle for power
  - ❖ To block the Economic penetration of Germany to the turn of Africa

➢ By this treaty
- ❖ The area where the railway line passed through was given to France as a sphere of influence
- ❖ The Nile Bsin and its source to Britain
- ❖ Italy was allowed to construct a railway connecting her two east African colonies :- Eritrea and Italian sonaliic

➢ While he was in bed, Menlik did two Things in order to ensure the efficient running of government affairs and the political stability of his empire

i) In October 1907 : Menlik established the first council of minitels consisting of nine miniters :- for war, commerce and foreign affairs, public works, Agriculture, Finance, Justice, The pen, the place and the Interior
- ❖ The old place officials were just given impressive modern titles:-
  - ➧ The royal treasurer (Bejrond) became minister of finance.
  - ➧ The old commander of the Vanguard (the Fitawrari) became minister of war
  - ➧ The chief of the place (Azaz) became minister of Imperial court

- ❖ the establishment of minister of council and the Minesterial offices marked the birth of Modern Beauraucracy in the country

ii) In May 1908 Menlik designated Lij Iyasu as a hire to the throne

- ❖ Lij Iyasu was the son of shewareged Menlik and Ras Michael of Wollo
  - ➢ He was only 12 years old and thus Ras Bitwadad Tessema Nadew appointed as a Regent
- ❖ But, Menlik`s arrangement dissatisfied both the Shewa nobility and Taytu.
  - ➢ The Shewan nobility were not happy with Iyasu as he was the son of the strong regional lord of Wollo
  - ➢ Taytu on her side did not Favour Iyasu because Ras Michael had a hostile relation with her brother Ras wolle Betul (the Regional lord of Begemdir). she preferred Zewditu Menlik who had an affair with Ras Gugsa Wollie
- ❖ Therefore, Taytu behaved as an actual head of state making decisions on behalf of her sick husband
  - ➢ She worked hard to build up a power bloc centered around her family through political marriage.
  - ➢ Taytu also made Shum-Shir (promotions, demotions) targeted at the members of the council of ministers and the Shewan nobility
- ❖ Taytus measure provoked an opposition in 1910. At the head of the opposition were the regent Ras Bitwadad Tessema Nadew and fit. Habte Giorgis (the war Minister)

- Next in line were the Shewan nobility who were victims of the Shume-Shir
- Ras Michael who worried about his son also Joined the opposition
- The Mahal safari (military units and palace army units attached to the palace involved in the plot.

❖ In March 1910, Empress taytu was removed from government affairs and was told to take care of her dying husband
  - With the death of Menlik, Taytu retired to Entoto upto her death in 1918.

❖ The exit of Taytu from the political stage did not mean the end of political struggle the whole period from 1910 – 1935 divided into three phases.
  - The reign of Lij Iyasu (1913 – 1916)
  - The Dual Rule (1917 – 1930)
  - The emerging autocracy of H/Selassie (1930 - 1935)

The reign of Lij Iyasu (1913 – 1916)

❖ The death of the regent – Ras Bitw3aded Tessema Nadew in April 1911 and the unexpected refusal of Lij Iyasu to accept another regent marked the beginning of the second phase in the power struggle and political instability in the country

❖ Formally the reign of Lij Iyasu is supposed to have began only with the death of Menlik in 1913

❖ In actual fact, however, Lij Iyasu began exercising power with the death of the regent in 1911

❖ The only challenge against Lij Iyasu came from Abate Buagalew who tried to take the position of the regent but he failed and imprisoned up to 1916 at Mekdella.

- He also took measure against the Quragna system whereby the accused and the accuser chained together until Justice is delivered.
- He also introduced a New regulation for the levying of land taxes
- Iyasu established a city police for Addis Ababa which was known as the Trenbulle

❖ Iyasu`s reign faced opposition internally and externally

❖ The Internal opposition came mainly from the Shewan nobility which is the result of his weakness :- his polygamy character, his lack of respect to the old Shewan nobility, his frequent absent from the capital, his lack of responsibility in government work and his financial support for establishing Mosques

- His conflict with the Shewa nobility reached its climax when;-
  - He appointed his father Ras Michael as negus over Tigray and Wollo in 1914 and Gojjam and Begemdir in 1915
  - He promoted his relatives and friends in the expense of the Shewan nobility
    - He took Sidamo from Dej. Balcha and gave it to his new ally Negadras HaileGiorgis

- He removed Fit. H/Giorgis as the Chaiman of the council of Ministers
- He Removed Dej.Tefferi from Harar and transferred him to Kaffa

➧ Externally Lij Iyasu faced an opposition

From the tripartite powers. Because:-

❖ Iyasu had become a close friend of the Ottoman Turkish Empire and Germany enemies of the tripartite powersia WWI.

❖ Iyasu gave moral and Material support to the leader of the Somalia nationalist movment, seyid Mohammed Abdellah Hassen

❖ Therefore in September 1916, the Shewan nobility were told to do something about Lij Iyasu

➢ Finally, a coupd`etat against Iyasu was plotted on 27 September1916. He was deposed

❖ As usual Lij Iyasu was in Harar and his army was defeated at mieso

➧ Lij Iyasu became a fugitive upto when he was captured in 1921 in Tigray and upto 1932, he was detained at Fitche.

❖ On 27 October 1916 Ras Michael (Lij Iyasu`s father) was defeated at Segele (the battle of segele) when he tried to restorehis son Lij Iyasu to power

- The coup filed because it
  1) lacked proper organization

The Ethiopian student movement

- The movement started in 1950`s when university students asked for improved educational facilities and services.
- Gradually they demanded freedom of the press and their right to form a union of their own.
- There were various factors that strengthened the students radicalism in 1960`s. Among them were:-
  - The influence of foreign educated Ethiopians
  - The aborted coup of 1960
  - The introduction of Marxist –Leninist ideas.
  - The one year community service by the university students before graduation started in 1964, enabled the students to witness the life of the peasants under the feudal relation of production.
- In 1965 the university students union of Addis Ababa (USUAA) was set up and took a responsibility to lead the students movement the union had its paper called "struggle"

- Between the years 1965 and 1974 students raised various radical political, social and economic issues. They came out on to streets with their revolutionary slogan "land to the Tiller"
- The students support of the right of nationalities to self determination, their call for civil rights and liberates, protest against economic, religious and ethnic in equalities alarmed the Imperial regime. But the regime was not ready to give ear to some of the demands of the students. Instead it reacted by taking repressive action against the students.

Peasant rebellions in Gojam and Bale

Gojam

- Brokeout in 1968, first in the provinces of Motta and Daga Danot
- Its immediate cause was the introduction of new agricultural income tax.
- The rebels` first measure was refusal to allow government tax assessors to work in the region. Then rebelled against the state
- After electing their leaders they also agreed not to take their products to market.
- Finally however the rebellion was crushad
- By the end of the fighting the emperor visited Gojam and
  1) Removed unpopular officials
  2) Post pond the new tax
  3) Exempted peasants from back payment of taxes for the years 1950-1968.

Bale

Reasons: -

- ☞ Feudal exploitation
- ☞ Corrupt – administration
- ☞ Land alienation

- Religious and ethnic domination

- In the case of the Bale peasant rebellion there was an external involvement. The rebellion gained a moral and a material support from the newly independent state of Somalia.
- The rebellion started in the Somali inhabited frontier district of Elkere in 1963
  - The peasants refused to pay government taxes.
  - They also refused to sell grains at market
- The rebellion had a strong mass base and good coordination
- Waqo Gutu was its leader
- Finally it came to an end in 1970 when the rebellion was crushed by an army sent from the center. The Ethiopian government introduced a marshal law, formed a military administration, an Oromo general Jagama Kello was appointed governor of Bale.
- Most of the rebel leaders were freed and given positions in different offices.

Government taxes

- For up to 1970 were cancelled.

The outbreak of Famine

Causes: -

- Drought
- Over population
- deforestation and soil erosion
- Scarcity of resources
- Back ward system of production and feudal exploitation, which aggravated the situation.

- In the years from 1958 to 1974 there was famine in almost all religions of Ethiopia, in fact in varying degree.
- Among all the famines those in
  - Tigrai (1958 – 1959)
  - Wag lasta (1965 – 1966)
  - Wollo (1973 – 1974) were very serious.
- The Haile Sellassie regime took no measure to control the effects of the famine, the population dislocation and the death of thousands of people rather the state worked to hide the famine from the International community. It was the Ethiopian students and the British Journalist, Jonathan Dimbilby, through his documentary film, who exposed the irresponsibility of the government.

- The radical politicians used the famine to strengthen the opposition force against the regime

The Eritrean problem

It was the most serious provincial challenge to the Haile Sellassie regime. It lasted from 1961 to 1991. As we have discussed previously, immediately after liberation in after liberation in 1941, both Ogaden and Eritrea remained under the direct British military rule. Ethiopia demanded the restoration of both Ogaden and Eritrea. Ogaden was restored in 1954.

The Eritrean case on the other hand became the concern of the UNO, In 1948 the four powers Britain, France, USSR and USA presented the Eritrean case to the UN general assembly. The UN formed an investigation commission of five men from Burma, Guatemala, Norway, Pakistan and South Africa. The commission enquiry was sent to Eritrea to investigate the wishes of the Eritrean people.

- There were different political groups in Eritrea comprising both the independence and unionists.

The unionist party: - The largest and worked for Eritrean union with Ethiopia.

- The independence group
  - The Muslim League
  - The Liberal progressive party: - It campaigned for independence of Eritrea united with Tigray
  - The pro-Italian settlers in Eritrea and the ex-Askaris supported full independence

- The investigation commissions come back with different recommendation –Norway supported union, Guatemala and Pakistan favored granting independence, South Africa and Burma recommended the UN general Assembly adopted a resolution of Federation of Eritrea with Ethiopia.

Armed Struggle: -

- The separatist bloc had already started a peaceful struggle since 1958. But an armed struggle in Eritrea clearly started in 1961 with the formation of a Muslim dominated Eritrean liberation front (ELF) commonly called Jabahe (Front) in 1961 under the leadership of IdrisAwate. The front maintained a substantial support from Iraq and Syria, who regarded Eritrea as part of the Arab world. Its bases were the Barka lowlands in Western Eritrea.
- The ELF supported from internal division on the basis religion aid regional conflict between its members. The internal division resulted in the appearance of three groups out of the ELF. Later in 1972 the three groups: - Eritrean liberation force in the Barka area, the people`s liberation forces in the Red sea area led by Osman Salah Sabby, and Front for Eritrean Independence in Akala Guzay region led by Isayyas Afawarqi, merged to form the Eritrean people`s liberation front (EPLF) also called shaabiya means popular.
- The ELF and the EPLF were unable to form unity and fought against each other for supremacy from 1972 to 1974.
- Generally the separatist forces in Eritrea fought a prolonged war against the Haile Selassie regime and the Derge for thirty years until finally the formation of an independent Eritrean state in 1991.

The popular revolution of 1974 and its Aftermath

- The opposition against the Haile Sellassie regime reached its climax in February 1974 with the outbreak of the popular revolution

- It was the revolution that marked not only the downfall of the Haile Sellassie regime but also the end of the Solomonic dynasty, which had been dominating the Ethiopian political history since 1270 AD
- It was also the revolution that brought about the formation of the military dictatorship of the Derg.
- The earliest serious revolt on the way to the outbreak of the revolution came from the Fourth division of the army stationed at negeleBorena, which mutinied protesting against poor living conditions. The soldiers arrested high ranking officials who were sent for mediation from the center.
- Ethiopian workers also protested against the long working hours, poor pay, poor working conditions and corrupt management. The earliest of such working class struggles were those made by the workers of the railway, the wonji sugar factory and the Akakai textile factory
- In 1962 the confederation of Ethiopian labour union (CELU) was formed. Early in March 1974 CELU called a four day general strike during which workers demanded a wage increase, freedom of association and the passing of new labour legislation.
- In February 1974 the Ethiopian Teachers association called for general strike protesting against the newly introduced educational reform program known as Education sector review. The teachers criticized the program as unfair towards the poor. The program was intended to reduce the in balance between regional urban – rural land, Male –Female in education. At the same time the taxi drivers went on strike demanding an increase in transport fees in accordance with 50% rise in petrol prices following the 1973 Arab – Israeli war (the Yom kippur war) when the Arabs started to use oil as a political weapon.
- The Ethiopian Muslims in Addis supported by their Christian sympathizers set out for demonstration demanding religious equality, separation of church and state and official observance of Muslim holidays.

The Derge (committee or council)

While the movement against the old regime was becoming a nationwide, representatives of different units of the army formed a coordinating committee of the armed force, the police force and the Territorial Army on 28 June 1974 This body came to be known as the Derg. The Derg did not involve the high ranking officers, who were regarded as supporters of the regime.

Reforms made by Haile Sellassie to pacify the mass revolt

- Stopped the implementation of the education sector review
- Reduced petrol price
- Increased the salaries of soldiers.
- The reforms however could not stop the revolutions movement
- Immediately after its foundation, the Derg began to take series of measures. On 1st August 1974 high ranking officials including prime minister Endalkachew Mekonnen were detained Lij Michael Imiru (son of the emperor`s progressive cousin, Ras Imru Haile Sellassie) was made prime minister replaying Endalkachw finally on 12 sep1974 the Derg deposed and detained emperor haile Sellassie. This marked the end of the Solomonic dynasty and the coming to power of the military dictatorship

The military Rule (1974 – 1991)

- On the fall of the Haile Sellassie regime the Derg proclaimed itself the provisional military Administrative council and took power under the chairmanship of General Aman Michael Andom (killed by the Derg) Mengistu was made 1st vice chairman and Atnafu Abate 2nd vice chairman.
- The leading officials of the Haile Sellassie regime who had detained were executed without trial. This episode discredited the Derg both at home and abroad.
- At its rise to power the provisional military Administrative council (PMAC) (as the Derg was called at the time it took power) promised the people that it took power to pave the way for the formation of a popularly elected government.

- But in practice the Derg was unwilling to hand over power to a civil government until it was in turn overthrown by force after seventeen years.

Reforms made by the Derg

- Development through cooperation campaign
  - It aimed at transforming the life of the peasants through a literacy campaign
  - It was also intended to implement the forthcoming proclamation of rural land reform
  - It involved high school and university teachers and students
  - It was opposed by the students who regarded it as a means for the Derg to reduce opposition forces from towns
  - It was successful at least in spreading literacy in the country side.
- In Dec. 1974 the Derg proclaimed "Ethiopian socialism" as its ideology and issued series of the following measures: -
  - On 1st Jan 1975 the Derg nationalized banks and Insurance companies
  - On Feb 3, 1975 private industrial and commercial companies were nationalized
  - On 4th March 1975 the Derg Nationalized rural land and decided to distribute it to landless peasants. This marked the end of serfdom or land lords to implement the land reform proclamation, peasant Associations (qebles) were formed – Infect the Association had administrative, security, social and judicial power.
  - On 26 July 1975, the Derg proclaimed the nationalization of urban land and extra houses. The Derg formed the Urban D Weller`s Associations (qebeles). This Association had equivalent power with the peasant Associations.

Oppositions against the Derg

- The Ethiopian people's revolutionary party (EPRP)
  - The leftist underground political organization
  - Active mainly in urban centers
  - Formed by educated elites in exile
  - Undertook armed struggle in Urban centers targeting supporters and functionaries of the military regime
  - It also tried an armed struggle in the country side establishing its center at Asimbain Tigrai.
- The All Ethiopian socialist movement (meison)
  - Also a leftist organization
  - Formed by educated Ethiopian abroad
  - Gradually it abandoned opposition and collaborated with Derg. Until the later stood against it.
- The TPLF, the EPLF, the OLF and others also intensified their armed struggle against the Derg.
- On its part the military regime also carried out measures to eliminate the opposition forces
- Suspected members and supporters of the EPRP, the TPLF, the OLF and others were the main targets of the bloody campaigns of the Derg commonly known as the Red Terror.
- Under this campaign thousands of intellectuals and peoples from different ways of life – were execsuted
- In 1976 the Derg formed the provisional office for mass organization affairs (POMOA) to disseminate the Marxist – Leninist ideology. POMOAwas staffed mainly by members of the All Ethiopian socialist movement (meison).
- In mean time the Derg proclaimed the national Democratic revolutionary program of Ethiopia to replace the former principle "Ethiopian socialism" At the time several Marxist – Leninist organization emerged: -

- ❖ Abiyotawi seded (Revolutionary Flame) established by Mengistu and his supporters
- ❖ Wezlig: - The workers league
- ❖ Malerid: - The Ethiopian marxist – Leninist revolutionary organization.
- ❖ I chi`at: - The Ethiopian oppressed masses revolutionary struggle

- ➢ In 1977 the four organizations and the already existing the All Ethiopian socialist movement (meison) formed a unity under the union of Ethiopian Marxist –Leninist Democratic organization called Emaledih. Meison left the Union and members of wazlig, malerid and Ichiat were expelled and hence only mengistu`s Abiyotawi seded remained in the union. Therefore the idea of formining a party by merging the Marxist Leninist organization was declared a failure.
- ➢ In 1979 in another attempt to form a political party, The Dergformed the commission for organizing the workers party of Ethiopia (COPWE)
- ➢ In 1984, the 10th anniversary of the coming to power of the military regime, the formation of the workers party of Ethiopia (WPE) was officially declared
- ➢ In 1987 the Dergadopted a socialist constitution and declared the formation of the people's Democratic republic of Ethiopia (PDRE). Akthough the name Derg was abandoned, political power remained in the hands of Mengistu and his supporters in the Derg.

The Somalia Republic`s Invasion of Ethiopia

- ➢ The republic of Somalia, under seid bare, launched a large scale invasion of Ethiopia in 1977. This was to implement the idea of creating greater Somalia. It was the event that diverted the attention of the Derg from the internal struggle The Somalia army was trained by the soviet experts and armed with the soviet weapon

- The Somalia army penetrated deep into the Ethiopian territory to the point of threatening Dire Dawa and Harar.
- The Somalia invasion aroused the nationalist feeling in Ethiopian. The Derg was able to mobilize 300,000 peadant militia forces to reinforce the regular army. The invaders army was successfully repulsed. The Ethiopian counter – offensive was further strengthened and became successful by the military assistance gained from the soviet union (after abandoning their former alliance with Somalia began to arm Ethiopia) Cuba and the Democratic republic of Yemen. By March 1978 the Somalia forces were totally derivenout of the Ethiopian territory.

The Decline and Fall of the military Regime

- Both internal and external factors were responsible for the decline and fall of the Derg.

Internal: -

- The famine of 1984/85 which was preceded by drought and crop failure.
- The famine forced the Dergto introduce a forced mass resettlement ad forced villagization. The government implemented both programs without the good will of the people. So both resettlement and Villagization programs failed.
- The protracted wars in the North against the EPLF (Shaabia) and TPLF, later in 1990 the TPLF joined others to form the Ethiopian people`s revolutionary Democratic front. The Front was made up of : - TPLF, the Ethiopian people`s Democratic movement (EPDM), the Oromo people`s Democratic organization (OPDO) and the Ethiopian Democratic officers revolutionary movement (EDORM)
- The attempted coup of 1989: - the coup was staged immediately after Mengistu had left the country on a state visit to the Democratic republic of Germany (GDR). The coup makers represented almost the entire armed force the generals lacked a sense of directions and failed to neutralize the Special force guarding mengistu`s palace

The coup failed and the coup makers who were among the best officers the country had were all detained and subsequently executed by Mengistu.
Mengistu set up a new military command but inadequate to fill the gap created due to the loss of those famous officers.
These all further lowered the fighting moral of the already demoralized army and hence the fall of the Derg became a matter of time.

The external factors: -

- The global change at a fast pace in the 2nd half of the 1980`s, which gradually brought an end to the cold war.
- In 1985 The soviet leader Michael Gorbache introduced the restructuring program called prestroika and Glasnost. Under these policies soviet Russia stood against the principles of communism being preoccupied with their internal affairs. The soviets terminated the support they had been giving to the socialist countries like Ethiopia under the military regime.
- Encouraged by both the international situation and the internal political developments, the EPLF and EPRDF intensified their military operations and finally the EPRDF entered Addis Ababa on 28 may 1991 similarly the EPLF also entered Asmara.

From military Dictatorship to a Federal Arrangement

- After the overthrow of the military regime with the coordinated struggle of the opposition forces, the EPRDF set up a provisional government, whose first task was arranging a peace and Democratic Transitional conference which was held in Addis from 1 – 5 July 1991. It was attended by different political forces, national liberation movement, religious institutions and intellectuals
- The conference ended by establishing the transitional government, which was to stay for two years, and adopting the transitional charter (which out lined the principles of the transitional period)

- Based on the charter the transitional government undertook the following tasks: -
  - ❖ Established peace and order (prior task)
  - ❖ Formation of local government
  - ❖ Initiated free market economic policy
  - ❖ Brought an end to the institution of repression
  - ❖ Worked to head the wounds caused by the previous wars
  - ❖ It paved the way for the formation of popularly elected parliament and a democratic government.
- During the transition period, the constitutional commission drafted a constitution, which was ratified in Dec. 1994.
- Under the new constitution Ethiopia got a Federal political structure. The Transitional government ended its mission in 1995 when a national election was held and EPRDF won the election and proclaimed the Federal Democratic Republic of Ethiopia
- Melese Zenawi, the president of the transitional government was made the prime minster of the country.
